

Two Chevy Chase Canyon residents found themselves “up the creek” as they tried to negotiate Chevy Chase Drive Tuesday afternoon. Their cars had to be freed by two tow trucks and their only escape was a “retreat” by way of the Kennington-Cascadia detour—back down the flooded canyon road. No cars could navigate the road north of Kennington crossing.

—News-Press Photo