

Peaceful Charm Of Chevy Chase Influences Orchestra Members To Secure Lots In Tract

"Bill" Hatch and the other four members of his noted orchestra, lured by the peace and quiet of the woodland surroundings of Chevy Chase, have each purchased a homesite in the tract. The picture shows Bill Barr, sales manager for Bert Farrar, Inc., singing "Home, Sweet Home," accompanied by the orchestra after the transaction had been completed.

Music resounding through the tree lined avenues of Chevy Chase last week heralded the fact that Bill Hatch and his entire orchestra were celebrating the fact that each one of the musicians has now purchased a homesite in this delightful property, according to W. J. Barr, director of sales for Bert Farrar, who aided the musicians by singing "Home, Sweet Home" to the full accompaniment of this famous musical organization.

This enthusiasm for Chevy Chase, is shared by many other musicians and members of the art colony of Los Angeles, according to Barr, who declared that the beauty and restricted protections that guard Chevy Chase have made an immense appeal to those who appreciate natural beauty.

Peace and Quiet

"In spite of the fact that Chevy Chase is only 8 1/2 miles from the center of Los Angeles and is approached by wide, level boulevards, it is so protected by its tree covered hills that it is impossible to hear the sound of a train, a street car or any of the objectionable city noises from any point in the property," exclaimed Bill Hatch yesterday.

"On the contrary, the trees and shrubs protect hundreds of quail and song birds that provide a daily concert of quite a different kind. The wild life of Chevy Chase, its magnificent trees and wild flowers and the beauty of the panorama of golf course and rolling hills with a distant view of the sea make it ideal for the lover of quiet and beauty who must nevertheless live within easy reach of a downtown studio or office."

Named Director For Experiment Station

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—Edward I. Kotok, for fifteen years an officer of the California district, United States forestry service, has been appointed director of the new forest experiment station to be established in this state, according to announcement by Col. W. B. Greeley, chief forester.

The other members of the California forest experiment station staff already selected are: Duncan Dunning, silviculturist of the forest service district headquarters in San Francisco, A. E. Wieslander, technical assistant from the Lassen National forest, and

VISIT RANCH HOME

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Camerer of 319 West Garfield, with Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Elbow and children Eleanor and Gus Elbow of Berkeley, motored to Pomona yesterday to visit the ranch home of W. K. Kellogg. Dr. and Mrs. Camerer are close friends of Mr. Kellogg's brother, Dr. John Kellogg of Battle Creek, Michigan. At the ranch the Camerers and their friends enjoyed visiting the stables and seeing the world famed Arabian horses, several of which arrived recently from Arabia and are highly insured. The Camerer party had picnic luncheon in Ganesh park, Pomona.

H. A. Siggins, junior forester. Two addition assistants will be appointed at an early date.

Nazarene College Man To Speak In Glendale

Rev. J. C. Henson, business manager of the Pasadena Nazarene college, will occupy the pulpit at the local Nazarene church Sunday night. Paul Beck, chairman of the committee carrying on the Sunday school census, reports that he and his assistants are finding many young and older people not identified with any Sunday school. They are hoping to increase the membership of the church school through their work.

France's vogue for expensive shoes is keeping the makers of high-priced footwear rushed with orders.

Two profits!
for Homebuilders

HOTEL ARRIVALS

Monday, August 10, 1925